Cake, balloons & fireworks too!

After many pre-Canada Day meetings, the Wallace Gardens Community Association Canada Day Organizing Committee, aided by the tremendous efforts of its many volunteers and the various sections from 19 Wing Comox, held Canada Day family activities at Air Force Beach on July 1, 1997.

The Air Force Beach parking lot was turned into a large activity centre. A majority of the setup was completed the day prior, thus making life a lot easier for the volunteers scheduled to assist with the actual Canada Day activities. This was a result of extremely hard work by the Events Grounds setup coordinators Gary Dixon, Andy Euyteneier, Mark Parker and Ed Trenholm. The four coordinators were not alone in their efforts, many volunteers lent a helping hand.

Canada Day itself started off somewhat wet with early morning showers but by early afternoon the showers had stopped and we settled in for overcast with cloudy conditions. The committee agreed this was good enough for the activities to begin.

Families started arriving almost a half hour prior to the scheduled activities. Upon entering the grounds they were greeted by Carmie Dixon and her dedicated group of volunteers who gave to all visitors a variety of Canada Day memorabilia. It was at this location that visitors were informed of the schedule of activities, their locations, as well as given the opportunity to purchase tickets for the food concession stands.

Three large modules were set up for the food concession area. Volunteers sporting aprons with cooking utensils in hand cooked up fantastic hot dogs and hamburgers.

Once families had the opportunity to acquire a hot meal, the tour began of the many different activity setups. The WGCA Fish Pond allowed children a chance to test their fishing skills. Using a fishing pole and the assistance of a little yellow plastic duck children fished for prizes.

Not far from the Fish Pond, Bouncemania provided three different sizes of bouncers for the Cont. Page 9

Canadian Forces Housing Agency News update

One of the things that MQ residents may have noticed over the tion in the self-help program that CFHA has started. The program may include just about anything that a resident may wish to do to their unit, within the financial limitations of the program.

We have had residents participate by doing things like adding plants and shrubs to their yards, to painting the entire exterior of the row house in a joint effort by all the tenants in the building. Perhaps some of you have had the opportunity to go by Row house 117 and see the great job they did on the building.

The guidelines of the program are quite simple - as long as it enhances the quality of the building or the life style of the people, we're all for it. For example, a person may decide to plant some flowers in their yard. As long as they are perennials and not annuals, great. You want to paint your bathroom or fix that clothesline?

That's also great. If you have any ideas on projects you would like to try, come on down and see us, or give us a call. We will be glad to answer any of your questions. Also, if you have any thoughts on what additions you would like to see to the Self-help Program, let us know. We would love to hear

In closing, we'll leave you with these thoughts from our manager, Mr. V.J. Izquierdo:

They left as they arrived, everywhere around the world. Some people decide to live nomadic lives, some sedentary lives. My friends, our friends, will soon or are already gone. The friendship that was created might be for a short or a long period, only time will decide.

To all those who, like my family, see their friends leaving toward other adventures, other lives, it may not be easy to say

However, we will keep making our destiny and one day, since the earth is relatively small, we will meet again somewhere with laughs, smiles and hugs.

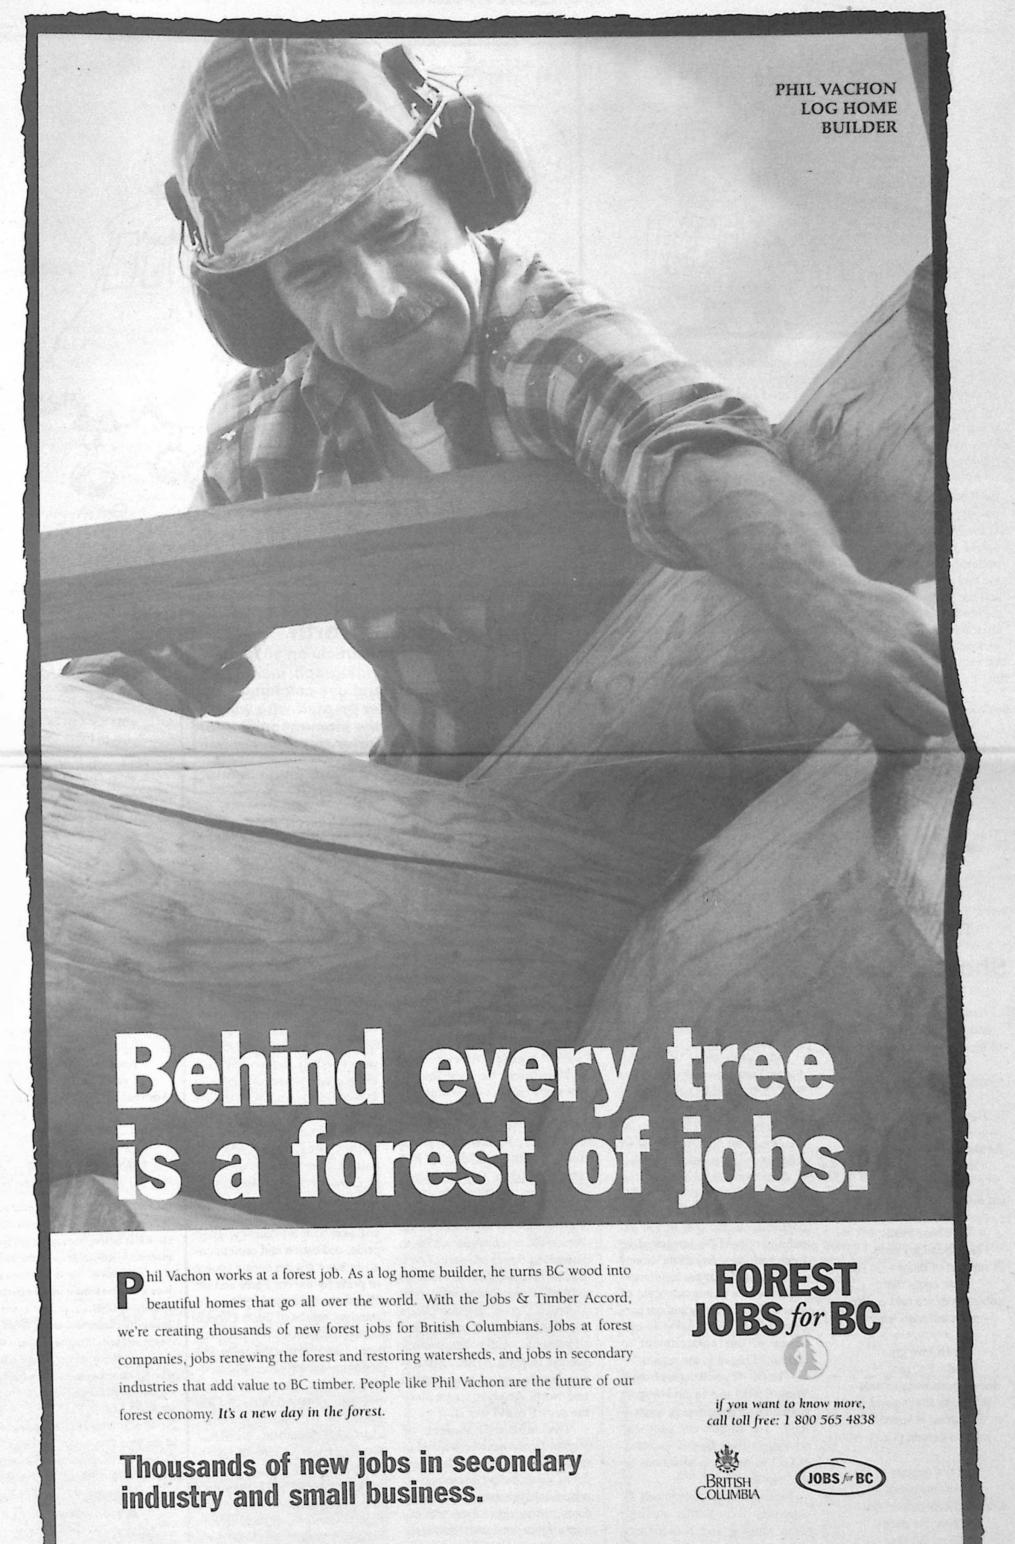

To all the Pierres, Andrees and Fannys I'll say to you have a good trip towards your new life, grow up, have fun, and every time you look at the sun we will be doing it

The more I try to organize my work schedule, the more I am convinced that there is a higher being that just enjoys watching me/us try. There is no such thing as an organized, pre-planned event that runs smoothly, until the event is over and the debriefing begins. Only then, in the collective memory, did everything work smoothly. So smoothly, in fact, that everybody looks forward to the next event. That's the little joke that the Higher Being plays on us, in order to perpetuate the fun.

Each issue of this paper is fun to produce - after it has been produced. It's one day to deadline and the usual crowd shuffles in. The weekend staff at the Museum left a note saying "the photocopier doesn't work." The ARAF computers were taken in two days ago to have their memory updated. The good news is that all the computers now have more memory. the bad news is that none of them work. The Managing Editor is away, and the Editor in Chief is left in charge. You know what it means when the boss actually gets to touch the switches - chaos, of course. Yet despite all of this, the real publisher of the paper, the typesetter/bookkeeper (how misleading) will see us through again. And we will debrief it as a success that requires repeating. And the Higher Being will continue to have its fun. Did I hear Airshow 98?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Shout it Aloud

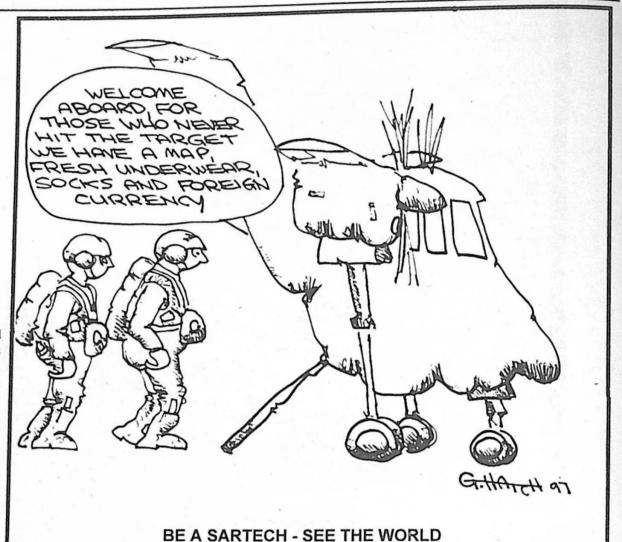

I read the paper, and the news was good, and so I learned the story of how our Search & Rescue folks had aided a sinking dory.

Three lives were saved. and I was glad, for the stormy seas are cold But the story I read was Record news and more than three days old.

It's here I toil and spend my days, in support of those who fly. How come that noble deeds are told us late - pray, tell me - why?

An HQ we got, and a PA, too, and reasons none to hide that news that's good, broadcast at speed, instill a certain pride!

May I submit a humble plea: Let good news travel fast. To cheer the deed make us the first - not everytime the last.

Their pride, dedication and professionalism have always been a source of pride for the Air Force and for Canada as evidenced by the outstanding results of Team Canada during the William Tell Competition. I am sure that this spirit will continue as we face new challenges in the future and as their role and responsibilities are assumed by 1 Canadian Air Division and Canadian NORAD Region HQ on 31 July 97.

Scientists recently cloned a sheep. Now fears abound that man may be next in line. Fears!? We should all exult!

Cloning cheats death.

In pre-Cambrian times, death did not exist. How could it? Amoeba swell and divide. No algae bear young. Worms cast off one end and both halves happily carry on. All retain existence within their derivatives.

had to die. A fly in the ointment,

Cloning is different. The individual lives on in his or her clones, in the most infinitissimally minute details. The sexually produced progenitor produces precise mirror images asexually begotten.

By cloned immortality, ma kind finally pays back the debt owed proconsul for risking all by coming down off the trees some twenty million years ago. To this day orang-outang and chimpanzee differ 26% in armlength, man and chimpanzee only by 16%.

Nor was cloning unknown in classical antiquity. The dragon teeth sown by Cadmus turned to warrier clones, and gloriously tragic Thebes was born. How could Oceanus and Thetys possibly find time, much less the energy, to sexually produce 6,000 sons and daughters? No coincidence the work "clone" is derived from Greek, "klon."

Unfortunately, no gain is without cost. Sex is out. Sex reshuffles elements of heredity by splitting them up in order to produce new individuals of greater variety - the antithesis of cloning. Death wish, that inborn tendency to seek one's own demise, will forever frustrate the questor. And alas - xestobium refuvillosum, also known as the death wa beetle, will become permanently unemployed.

But there are obvious benefits. By returning to the utopia of organic ooze, we also return to an absence of fear. We say farewell to Darwin and natural selection. No more poker playing with hands of genes.

Logical selection will determine whom to clone. Someone of superior breeding and character. Someone industrious, dedicated, reliable. Certainly, good looking,

Anyone from Construction Engineering, one should think. Look no further.

Jake's back!

Hi folks! You have read and familiarized yourselves with Bobbi Howard and Mike Chatwin who, in the last issue of the Totem Times, told you of the demise of our trade (PERO/PERI), so I won't go there.

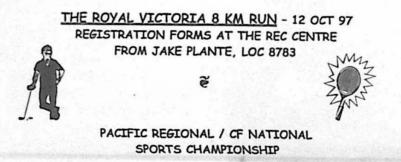

I'll begin on a personal note: I hail from the Maritimes, born in Middleton, N.S. but grew up in the west end of Moncton, N.B. We had a short break from the Maritimes when my Dad was stationed at RCAF Station Whitehorse, but I am a proud Maritimer with an equal mix of Herring Choker and Blue Noser in me.

I had an enjoyable 24 years of service, hopping across Canada, meeting and making many friends and having great postings to boot. My career has had many highlights but the greatest was being able to share my career with my family - Shirley, Brianne and Rian. My postings have included Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Greenwood, Borden, Holberg, Comox, Debert, the Naval Officer Training Centre in Victoria, Esquimalt, along with a short stop at the 1976 Olympic Games and CFS Alert.

I am here now at 19 Wing Comox as the Sports Coordinator looking after all the Wings' sporting needs: from sports afternoons, inter-section sports, and base team sports. So, for all your sporting needs, give me a call at local 8783 - we'll chat sports, where I've played, what I've played and still play, who we may mutually know, and stretch a few singles into stand-up triples.

I'm glad to be back and I look forward to meeting you all.

Pick funds like an expert by Kim Vogel

Comox Valley Rice Financial Did you know that there are currently over 1,000 different mutual funds available in Canada? No wonder some investors may at times be overwhelmed by the range of fund options available to them. Keeping track of all these funds is a full-time job, and it's true that the experts who monitor fund performance employ sophisticated computer models and elaborate mathematical techniques. But, at the end of the day, experts and non-experts Investment managers, like alike employ basic concepts to arpeople in most other professions. rive at their conclusions: comparative fund performance; consistency of returns; invest-tation; and manager track record. It's a numbers game

ment management philosophy;

fund management company repu-

It's the same in the world of politics, competitive sports or investing. People are attracted to strong performers - to winners and assets tend to flow to managers who perform well. In the inindustry, performance is measured by how well a particular fund did in comparison to a recognized industry benchmark, typically a stock index such as the Toronto Stock Exchange 300 Composite Index or the S&P 500 Index in the U.S. As any advisor will tell you, what you want to find is good comparative numbers. But that's not all. Investors should also be looking for consistently strong performance over a reasonable time horizon - at least three and more likely five years years or longer. One year returns can be very misleading, as some funds perform better over the short term because of particular economic or market conditions. Also remember that in any given year, a majority of fund managers may actually underperform the major indices. So, always think long term when you're doing comparative fund shopping.

Consistency is a virtue

Then there's the consistency factor. If you're comparing performance on a fund-by-fund basis, it pays to make sure you're comparing apples and apples, not apples and oranges. That's why global or emerging market funds can be particularly difficult to assess - funds investing even in the same markets may be doing so with a very different overall investment mandate. So it's a good idea to depend on your advisor for more information about comparative fund performance and related matters.

The other key point is a consistent investment management philosophy. Consistency means not following every investment gimmick or flavour of the month: derivatives this month and something else the next. It also means running a portfolio that accurately reflects the fund's stated investment objectives. So ask your advisor for assistance or advice, but also do you own homework. The moral of the story: consistency may sound old fashioned, but it's a virtue in the investment world.

can and do move around in the course of their careers. But should you forget about sleeping at night if the manager of your fund happens to join another investment company? The simple answer is that most fund portfolios are run by a team of experts. Even star-performing money managers are ultimately team players, who share collective responsibility for the overall investment process. So a change in imply diminished performance expectations in future. In fact, some funds have continued to flourish with several different managers over the course of time. Fidelity's Magellan Fund is a case in point. A good, long-term performance record and consistent approach to money management are probably better indicators of where you should keep and place your money than the manager-on-the-move syndrome. But this raises another issue. What we have been discussing applies to existing funds with historical track records. What should you do when a new fund comes along? As usual, there are two basic schools of thought Wait and give the new fund a year to perform - but potentially miss out on good returns - or look into the manager's past to try to evaluate the likelihood of continued investment success. Your best bet is to consult your adivsor before making up your mind.

Your next step

Consult with your advisor for the background, advice and insight you require to select the funds that are best for you. And, always remember your bottom line. Comparative returns can be a useful factor in helping you choose fund investments, but they are not always or necessarily the most important ones. That's because investment returns themselves are really just benchmarks, a reflection of past performance. Now it's true that while history may be an imperfect predictor of the future, it's better than nothing. But it cannot guarantee future re-

In this issue we would like to say goodbye to our members who are moving on this APS.

Sgt Doug White, wife Rose and children Brandy and Ryan, will be heading to beautiful Ottawa this summer. Doug will be taking on a position with the NIS there, as well as trying to adjust to living in an actual city again. All we can say is that our loss is truly Ottawa's MCpl Peter Klingerman, wife Rhonda and daughters Marcia and Meagan, will be making a cross-country trek where he will join the ranks of the 14 Wing Greenwood SAMP Flt. We wish them the best

Cpl Eldon Turton, wife Helen and son Jared, are off to the wonderful world of 2MP PL, CFB Petawawa. Eldon just couldn't get enough time in the woods with the Field Engineers, so he thought he'd give it a shot as an MP as well.

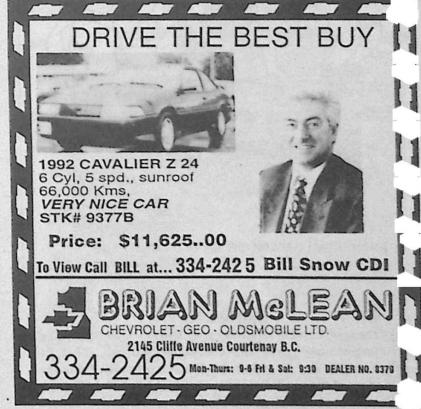

LS Steve Choquette will be returning to his home town of Winnipeg, where he will join the 17 Wing SAMP Flt. I guess he didn't get enough of those lovely winters there while growing up. If you want to know about a new place to go for dinner in Winnipeg Steve, just ask any of the T-Bird Challenge team (we won't say anything else!). LS Cyril Odo is back to the navy environment at the Guardhouse in CFB Halifax. It's not quite Esquimalt, Cyril, but it is a lot more navy than Petawawa.

Last, but by no means least, Cpl Mike Rodgers will be going to Tokyo, Japan, to become a member of the MSGU section there. Those seven years you put in here at Comox have finally paid off for you, Mike. I just hope that Japan is ready for you!

We wish the very best to all our members moving on this year, and we would also like to welcome our new members and their families: Sgr Huard (CFSU Ottawa), LS Hebert (St. Hubert), Cpl MacDonald (Goose Bay), Cpl Grosspietch (MSGU Tokyo), Cpl Crispin (2MP PL Petawawa and Cpl Card (SIUS Kingston).

LADICS DAY by Barb Carter

Canada Day and 44 gals came to play on Glacier Greens Ladies' Day. It was a dicey day, both weatherwise and teamwise, but the roll of the dice determined the winning team with a Low of 50 to be Marie Israel, Jean Maxwell and Gussy Pritchard. On the other side of the scale it was: Lorraine Courtmache, Shirley Chapman, Barb Myatt and Joyce Merrill. Putts went to Fran Hume and Mary Kelly. All received shiny new balls for their efforts. Of the 44 gals present, 36 played the Dice Game and four groups played Match Play, with some in-

Gussy Pritchard has graciously volunteered to replace the tablecloths we have misplaced and we thank you so much - what a great asset to the club.

Canada's birthday was also Shirley Wallis's birthday. Happy Birthday Shirley, and we all know you are much younger!

August 16/17 will be the Ladies Club Championships. It will be flighted and the cost will be $25.00 for the 2-day event. But lots of time before then.

BUSINESS LADICS

TUESDAY HIGHT

It was a windy cool night but that didn't deter 16 gals from playing from the white tees. Low Net was tied at 42 and Caryl Diewert and Betty Pearsall shared the honours. The other Net was Corrine Innes. Putts went to our junior player, Leslie Eigler, while Rose McCleish had two chip-ins. Well done to all.

4th Annual Comox Builders'

by Scott Fraser

Starting in 1998, a new era in

One of the questions continually asked of today's Club Professionals is: "What are we doing to promote junior golf?" In Comox, B.C. the answer is "Lots."

junior golf will begin. The official name for the new program will be "Comox Builders' Junior Tour." Thanks to Bruce Kehler of Comox Builders, a local building supply dealer, and assisted by myself, there will be much to be exited about if you are a junior golfer. The "Comox Builders' Junior Tour" is much more than a tour - it is an education program, a full-fledged junior tour and a chance for the juniors to win scholarships towards schooling.

Probably the largest area of innovation revolves around the education program. The focus of the education will be non-conventional instruction. Everything revolves around non swing related instruction. Educational areas will include: sports psychology, course management, tournament planning, public relations, practice methods and pretournament course planning. We hope that this can complement an area that Canadian golf has always been strong in and that's swing instruction. We want to be able to take the juniors past hitting play and prepare for the game at a highly competitive level. We feel that this is where the Canadian junior golf program needs the big-

As far as the tournament area goes, the new tour will help the juniors by making them more aware of their own games. This is the area that tackles practice methods. When you ask a junior specific questions about his or her game, they usually don't exactly know where their strokes are allocated. By making the juniors keep statistics, such as putts per round; fairways hit; greens hit and scoring average; not just handicaps, we can help them analyse their own game. In addition, there will be more monies available for prizes.

Other educational areas will include holding a qualifying tournament with an etiquette clinic. This will help the juniors better

Clean those spikes!

With the advent of "soft spikes" and the promotion of the use of them, there are several facts that everyone should be aware of.

Besides the obvious of saving the greens, they are also easier to walk on, saving your back, and are cheaper to purchase. One consideration though is keeping your soft spikes cleaned. It seems that they are more prone to clogging up with dirt and grass when conditions are wet or damp, especially early in the morning. To clean your soft spikes you can use a tee or your ball mark repair tool. Another good way of cleaning them is with the foot brushes found at each tee block. It's a good habit to get into, cleaning your soft spikes each time prior to teeing off. This ensures solid contact with the ground and lessens the chances of slipping, falling and sustaining an injury, or missing your shot. If you find that cleaning your soft spikes is too much trouble, or you just don't have the means to do so, you can always go back to those old hard-on-the-back, green damaging ing tournament will not be used to limit the number of participants on the tour but instead will help seed the juniors for flighting on the tour. There will be a Code of Conduct expected from the tour players and this will be an important part of their education. It's as important to have top junior players be pleasant and well mannered as it is to have them be great players. We feel that the total package approach is the best method and to have a program that gives juniors an education in all areas of know how to conduct themselves and provincial officials, everyone on the golf course. The qualifyis quickly starting to take this under their wing.

One thing that is the backbone of the tour is, of course, money, There will be approximately $10,000 put into the tour in 1998 and, hopefully, more after that. The monies are being raised through a Charity Pro-Am at Glacier Greens, my home course. The sponsors have made a commitment to this tournament which, in turn, allows us to make a commitment to the Junior Tour. It's nice to be able to make such a difference to something through a golf is important to success. The game that we all enjoy. Our Proscholarships are to reward the Am has very quickly become a major area tournament and it feels great to allocate the monies to such a worthy cause. It's now making us work even harder on the Pro-Am so we can do an even better job with the Junior Tour. We can hardly wait until 1998.

children to exercise their jumping and slamming desires. Next was the legendary WGCA Water Slide. Although the temperature wasn't exactly hot, actually it wasn't even close to hot, approximately 500 children went down the water slide soaking themselves in what could be considered cold water. Still, after displaying blue lips and extreme shivering, they continued to use the water slide until its closure shortly after supper.

THURSDAY 17 JULY 1997

Once again, teens from within the community, and some visiting from as far away as Fredericton, New Brunswick, were busy painting the faces of the younger children with designs that clearly indicated that this was a day of celebration.

Canada Day activities would not be complete without Beach Games. Sure enough, Krista Galbraith and Kevin Leblanc, backed by their group of volunteers, ran a variety of beach activities for the children. The windy conditions ensured all participants took home with them sand samples compliments of Air Force Beach.

Following the beach activities, the Durst family, aided by their Bingo caller Terry Newell, ran a Family Fun Bingo. For two hours families attempted to warn up a little by gathering under tentage and playing BINGO. For some reason 0-76 was never called.

The daytime activities closed down about 6:00 p.m. in preparation for the night time festivities. This was good news for the volunteer coordinators Leanne Dixon and Dean Trenholm - finally, a break! However, the break was short lived as people began arriving at approximately 7:00 p.m. for the night time fes-

19 Wing Comox's hidden musical talents were brought to the forefront when Steve Wetmore and Claude Potvin, both active members of the military, took to the stage. Steve dressed for the weather and Claude, with wires ground to himself, provided excellent entertainment for over 100 minutes. They played a large selection of music from Canadian artists, mixed with an abundance of humour which ensure all enjoyed their efforts.

In conjunction with the live entertainment, Aero Art was busy selling T-shirts sporting the traditional "Canada Eh." As the sun began to set, the Air Force Beach turned into a sea of yellow and orange glow sticks in anticipation of a fireworks display.

Just prior to the fireworks, LCol Terry Burt, acting 19 Wing Commander, welcomed all visitors to Air Force Beach. The crowd paused for a moment of silence in respect for the Canadian soldiers who were away from their nation this day on duty. A WGCA Canada Day Appreciation Award was presented to Tony Dixon for his continued contributions to the CMFRC and WGCA youth programs throughout the year. Also, it was at this time two lucky people had their names drawn to win two mountain bikes. Collin Olsen, who coordinated the Mountain Bike Raffle, proudly awarded the winners their mountain bikes.

Keeping his promise of providing a fireworks display that the Comox Valley would not soon forget, John Scotton and his amazing group of volunteers concluded the Canada Day activities with a show that was phenomenal. An estimated crowd of over 15,000 people cheered, clapped, oohed and simply adored a 16 minute display of bright colours and sparkle failing from the sky.

The 19 Wing Comox Military Police and members from the Wing Auxiliary Security Force ensured that the owners and passengers of some 5,200 vehicles were able to vacate the grounds safely and in very short time.

The 1997 WGCA Canada Day activities were indeed an outstanding success. Our sincere appreciation and thanks to the many volunteers, businesses, organizations and sponsors for their excelcruit up to QL3/QL5 standard. The training cell has also become more flexible and innovative. They are considering modularizing courses and breaking training into phases. However, Maj Grimshaw cautions that the concept will not work for all MOCs and courses. To date they have modularized Basic Recruit Training and Professional Development Level 23 to accommodate air reserve officers in two phases. They will also determine whether JLC can be conducted this way after results and recommendations of a militia study have been received.

Another variation on training is the Basic Helicopter training conducted at Portage la Prairie. Currently civilian helicopter pilots can take a threshold knowledge test and be slotted into a regular force course where they supplement their knowledge and experience. Once they have met the standard they are graduated. "We have two pilots there now on a trial basis. The course was not specifically designed for them, instead they occupy a course position and take the required training to fill in the blanks determined by their threshold knowledge course," he explained.

Often there are selected tasks a reservist can do without needing the full training of a regular force trade. For that reason they developed a number of reserve 500 series occupations.

"Reservists in these new MOCs have a meaningfull and important job but focus on a few aspects of the trade," he explained, citing 515-servicing techs, which is part of the 514aviation tech trade as an example. This particular MOC only deals with only one aspect of the trade, which is servicing aircraft. Even though it seems limiting, a 500 series trade person could conceivably end up supervising their own crew in due time and will become expert in their field. In addition, there is always the opportunity to continue ones' training and eventually become a full aviation tech.

Many initiatives and opportunities exist for air reservists with regards to training. Gone are the days of haphazard recruiting and back to back courses. Continued planning and foresight will ensure that reserves are afforded the same training opportunities, and this existing skills recognized, thus ensuring a flawless transition into the total force environment.

Earthquake! Be Prepared

Manitoba Flood Appeal

As a result of the special appeal for Manitoba flood victims, under the auspices of chaplains and CF congregations, bases and units, a cheque for $25,000 has been forwarded to the Manitoba Red Cross Relief Fund. It specified that the money came from Canadian Forces personnel, civilian personnel of DND and their families. The Chaplain General wishes to thank all those who contributed and assures all that their kind response will greatly assist in the alleviation of stress in Manitoba

We anticipate receiving more donations. The money will be forwarded to the Red Cross as it comes in.

Several areas of the United States and Canada have the potential to experience damaging earthquakes. In particular, the Pacific coast contains the San Andreas fault network and the Midwest contains the New Madrid fault system. No reliable earthquake warning system exists. This factor, coupled with the widespread damage that a quake can bring and the recent tremors experienced on the island, is a warning. ARE WE PREPARED?

Therefore, it is important to know the appropriate steps to take when one occurs. You must develop and be familiar with an earthquake plan to enable you to react quickly and safely.

Before

Gather your family together and develop an Earthquake Plan. The following questons will aid you in planning ahead. Record your answers and review them twice a year. When you review, make sure everyone understands the Earthquake Plan and record any necessary updates.

ASK THE PROFESSIONAL

QUESTION:

My only asset is my RRSP worth $100,000. I've named my sister as the beneficiary. Have I just beat the taxman?

ANSWER:

Kim Voge

No. If an estate does not have the money to pay the income taxes due on the RRSP, Revenue Canada would "ask" the beneficiary to pay the taxes on the amount received from the RRSP. Since you named your sister as the beneficiary, the financial institution would normally pay $70,000 ($100,000 less $30,000 withholding tax) directly to your sister for the additional tax due. Let's hope she didn't spend it all.

Actions to take if an earthquake strikes

The greatest threat during an earthquake is from falling debris. Earthquakes are unpredictable and strike without warning. Therefore, it is important to know the appropriate steps to take when one occurs, and to be thoroughly familiar with these steps to be able to react quickly and safely.

IN THE OFFICE

	During the earthquake
Step	Action
1	Remain Inside the building.
2	Seek Immediate shelter under a heavy desk/table, or brace yourself inside a doorframe or against an inside wall.
	Get at least 15 ft away from windows.
3 4	Stay there. If shaking causes the desk or table to move, be sure to move with it.
4	Resist the urge to penic. Organize your thoughts; mentally review the established psychological considerations for earthquake safety.
le d	 Don't be surprised if the electricity goes out, fire or elevator alarms begin ringing, or the sprinkler system is activated.
	 Expect to hear noise from broken glass, creaking walls, and falling objects.
	Immediately after the earthquake
Step	Action
1	Remain in the same position for several minutes after the earthquake in case of after- shocks.
2	Do not attempt to evacuate or leave your immediate area unless absolutely necessary or when instructed to do so by a proper authority.
3	Check for Injuries and administer first aid. Recognize and assist co-workers who are suffer ing from shock or emotional distress.
4	Implement your survival plan. Establish a temporary shelter if rescue teams are expected to be delayed.
5	Use stairway when instructed to exit building.

AT HOME

	During the earthquake
Step	Action
- 1	Remain Inside your house.
2	Seek protection from flying debris or fixtures. Brace yourself inside a doorframe or against inside walls. Seek cover beneath a table, desk, or bed.
3	Stay in position until the shaking stops.
	After the earthquake
Step	Action
1 2	Remain calm. Organize your thoughts by reviewing your home earthquake survival plan. Check for injuries and administer first aid. Be prepared to respond to the psychological aftereflects generated by a major earthquake.
3	Check water, gas and electric lines. If you suspect damage, turn off the main valves and leave them off until advised by a utility company representative or other competent source.
4	Do not use candles, matches, or other open flames, or turn lights on/off, either during or after the tremor because of possible gas leaks.
5	Turn on the radio to receive emergency instructions. Reserve telephone usage for emergency calls only.
6	Check your house for structural and internal damage. Wear boots, if possible, to protect against shattered glass.
	 Chimneys are earthquake prone if not well enforced and should be approached with caution. Look for separation down the sides or for loose bricks. Unnoticed damage could result in a fire.
	 Check the interior of the house for dislodged items. The continued swaying motion from an earthquake will cause loose doors of medicine and kitchen cabinets/drawers to open and their contents to spill out.
	 Check closets and bulk storage areas (garage/basements) for items which may have toppled or collapsed during the earthquake spilling substances which could produce fumes or become potential fire hazards.

IN PUBLIC

During the earthquake

Step	Action
	On the street
1	Enter the closest structure immediately—do not look up. Enter a store, terminal, office building, etc., just get inside.
	NOTE: The greatest danger during an earthquake is falling debris.
2 3	Remove yourself from windows that may shatter.
3	Brace against an inside doorframe or against inside walls.
	In a stadium, amphitheater or church
1	Remain In your current location. Do not rush to exits. The chaotic fleeing of large crowds diminishes the effectiveness of an evacuation procedure and frequently results in unnecessary injuries or deaths.
2	Seek cover under a bench or chair. If unavailable, crouch down, and cover your head with your arms to protect against falling debris.
3	Keep away from overhead electric wires or anything that might fall.
	In a vehicle
1	Stop the vehicle if it is currently in motion.
2	Avoid stopping either on or under a bridge or overpass.
-	Remain Inside vehicle until the shaking stops.
	After the earthquake
Step	Action
1	Remain calm.
2	Check for Injuries and administer first aid. Recognize and assist individuals who are suffering from shock or emotional distress.
3	Await emergency evacuation instructions
4	Watch for hazards created by the earthquake when traveling to another location such as downed electrical wires, broken or undermined roadways, collapsed freeways, overpasses, or bridge structures.
5	Stay away from waterfronts or beach areas. Tsunamis may result as an aftereffect of the earthquake.
6	Avoid sightseeing. Emergency vehicles will need ready access to respond to emergency situations

Heritage Happenings

by Maj Joel Clarkston

It's a busy time around the museum with the staff preparing for the radio controlled scale model event and the Heritage Aircraft Committee working on the H-21 restoration and the maintenance of the aircraft in the air park.

The scale model event is set to take place on the weekend of 26 July with numerous participants arriving from various parts of the island and mainland. This year, there will be an open scale category that will permit the flying of any scale aircraft, and a military scale category that will be restricted to military aircraft.

Better than 30 large aircraft are expected and the level of flying skill is good so there will be plenty of realistic sights and sounds. This event is taking on increased visibility in the community and this year will be the lead event for the first weekend of Comox Nautical Days. It's an excellent opportunity to pass on a few history lessons and it's fun too.

See the ad below for more details.

The museum's entry into the military scale event will be a Mustang MK I in 414 Sqn colours. Each year the museum will attempt to feature a scale aircraft of one of the squadrons on base. Last year the 409 Sqn Boulton Paul Defiant was built and flown. The aircraft's sister ship is now on display in the museum as part of the 409 collection. A similar fate will probably await the Mustang following completion of the scale model event. With the completion of the Mustang, the staff is casting about for next year's feature flyer. 407 Sqn is next on the list in all likelihood, although 442 Sqn may win out because of the less complex models involved. There is considerable enthusiasm however for tackling the construction of a flying Lancaster Mk X in 407 Sqn colours. That's a debate that will have to wait until the end of the summer.

The Heritage Aircraft Committee is doing very well in its efforts to restore and maintain the aircraft in the air park. The park is again open to the public for the summer and is proving to be very popular, with an increasing amount of traffic flowing through it as the weather improves. The H-21 has been completely stripped and is almost ready for painting. There is still some anticorrosion work to be done on the interior components and this will be completed prior to attempting the external painting. In addition, the ailerons are back on the Dakota and the fittings have been made, allowing the replacement of the elevator and rudder. These are expected to be on in the next few weeks.

The Heritage Volunteers continue to work long hours to maintain the aircraft in display quality condition and their morale is vey high. With each success story the level of interest increases and it's easy to see that the committee has been very successful. Anyone interested in learning more about the committee's work can drop out to the hangar, across from the Heritage Park, on Saturday morning or Monday evening.

(L-R): Capt Richter, Corky Hansen (Museum Curator) and Maj Clarkston pose with the museum entry for the stand off scale competition. The Mk I Mustang is 1/7 scale and is painted in 414 Sqn colours of Flying Officer Hollis Hills, an Amercian flying with the RCAF who achieved the first Mustang kill ever, in a combat over Dieppe. The Mk I was also flown by Charles Stover, a wartime member of 414 Sqn who recently served as the Honourary Colonel of the squadron here at 19 Wing.

Air Defence history

To commemorate the disbanding of Fighter Group, we are releasing 2 comprehensive history book entitled "A History of the Air Defence of Canada." This will be a hard cover, coffee table style book with a coloured dust jacket. It will have over 200 photographs (with bilingual captions), many of which have never been published before. The photographs will cover all aspects of air defence, including at least one shot of each of the long-serving Pinetree radar sites and the now almost forgotten Bomarc missile

In the post-war era, air defence in Canada formally started with No.1 Air Defence Group Headquarters in 1948 and has continued unabated to the present. the aircraft used or air defence have varied from piston engined P-51 Mustangs to jet powered CF-18 Hornets. The units which flew these aircraft ranged from auxiliary squadrons to "long in the tooth" regular squadrons. The ground equipment has also changed over the years, including the evolution of the AMES 11 convoy radar to the TPS 70 tactical radar now deployed.

From the early beginnings of No.1 Air Defence Group HQ in Ottawa, through to the North American Air Defence Modernization (NAADM) program in the early 1990s, and the transferring of the torch to 1 Canadian Air Division/Canadian NORAD Region HQ, this book covers all historical aspects. North American Air Defence (NORAD) Command, the Pinetree Agreement (phases 1 and 2), the Mid-Canada Line and the Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line, and a brief history of all the air defence stations, bases and squadrons have all been included in this book.

This is a unique opportunity for all who have been association with the air defence of Canada to purchase a historical memento of their service or for those interested in military history to discover much overlooked subject matter. Beautifully illustrated with photographs and over 15 maps, this book presents an excellent compendium of Canadian Air Defence units and stations. The best part of this book is the price: $25.00 plus $1.75 GST and $5.00 shipping and handling for individual orders. (Note: bulk shipping, coordinated through your local wing, may provide further shipping discounts.)

To order this book contact: Cpl Shank, Fighter Group HQ, Hornell Heights, Ontario, P0H 1P0. Phone: (705) 494-6001 ext 6778. Cheques or money orders in the amount of $31.75 Cdn should be made payable to: Base Fund, 4 Wing Cold Lake.
